The two young men I am sending out on a coast to coast baptizing tour, Mr. Raymond Cole and Raymond McNair, will be in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, on Tuesday, September 6th.

I am sorry that your town seems to be just too far off the route they will have to take, for time to permit them to detour far enough to visit you in your home. Consequently, I am having to ask a number of our friends who have written me regarding baptism to meet the men at some central point.

And so, I am asking you to try to meet them, if possible, along with two or three others, at the Biltmore Hotel in Oklahoma City, on Tuesday September 6th, at one o'clock in the afternoon; or if that is inconvenient, sometime before noon.

I do hope and pray that it will be possible for you to get into Oklahoma City and meet with them. They will have full facilities and be prepared for baptism.

I am sorry that I am unable to see you myself personally, but I am rejoicing, as I believe that you and all of our listeners and co-workers will, that God has now provided us with competent and consecrated men to make this tour.

I hope you will appreciate the reason for their inability to detour off the route far enough to see you in your home when I tell you that we have at least four times as many people who are being converted as a result of our program, and who wish to be baptized, as they will be able to see, even as it is. These are fine young men, and I know you will love them as Christian men.

May God bless you and be with you.

Sincerely, in Jesus' name,

HERBERT W. ARMSTRONG
